GOD IN THE ARTS

HE GAVE US EYES TO SEE THEM - CHURCH MONUMENTS

This month as we continue our walk through the church building, we focus on monuments. George Herbert has a poem on this theme which contrasts the body we see represented in marble, but now consigned to dust, with the soul released to perform its eternal devotions. Such monuments are often a reminder of the frailty of life and the certainty of death, symbolized by an hour-glass or a skull or classical urns.

In St Cuby's Church, Duloe in Cornwall there is a fine slate memorial of an Elizabethan lady, Anna Coffyn, depicted in a richly embroidered dress with gloves and a prayer book, ready for church. Underneath are the skull and crossbones, a memento mori, a reminder that death has visited even this elegant lady. That sign of death can come as a shock to us when we are committed so much to living and getting the most out of life today. Death intrudes violently into the world we would like.

But in St Bartholomew's Church, Much Marcle in Herefordshire, there is a monument that tells us something of the serenity of death. It is the effigy of Blanche Mortimer, who died in 1347. The church is filled with superb monuments, but this one has its own distinct and moving beauty. The carving of her dress shows buttoned sleeves and a wimple, while one hand holds a rosary. She impresses us with her loveliness, even in the midst of death.

Leonardo da Vinci wrote, 'While I thought that I was learning how to live, I have been learning how to die.' As we dedicate ourselves to God in this life, we can trust with Blanche Mortimer in the 14th century that His will is for us to be with him forever. This life is not just our preparation for death: it is our schooling for heaven, and life in heaven means life with God.

When Pharoah, the King of Egypt, let the Israelites go free, God led them across the desert to the sea. But Pharoah changed his mind and came after them with his army. The Israelites were terrified and cried out to the Lord for help. Moses told them, "Do not be afraid". He held his hand out over the sea and the water divided to leave dry land.

NEWSROUND

Julie Barrett (our new Churchwarden) writes

As noted in the previous page, by the time you read this, I, with Quinlan Terry, will have been admitted to the role of Churchwarden (CW) in our Parish.

I hope I will be allowed some regular space here in order to let you know what is going on from a CW's point-of-view, to tell you something about what a CW does (as I find that out!), and to introduce myself/what I stand for. I also hope to encourage you to tell me – and other PCC members – how we can best serve you, our Parishioners, and address your concerns, consonant with loving God and loving others with our whole selves. First, let me admit to some surprise at being in this position. I was not expecting to be elected, and this only happened because Richard Hopkins has understandably decided to take a step back for the time being, given his very heavy work and family commitments. I have just started a new law job in the city alongside my teaching work at the University of Essex. But I don't have onerous family commitments any more – my two offspring have lived elsewhere and my partner died six years ago, so I should have more space and time to take on this unusual role. Initially, I stubbornly refused to allow my name to be put forward, but began to realise that my life is not all about what I want or feel I can manage – but about God's plan; I need to learn to trust that God will provide 2 and that God's grace is sufficient 3. So instead, I started to think about what issues our local Church is facing that seem, to me, really urgent. And there are two areas I have grown to feel strongly about: our community and our communication.

I will expand on these two themes in the coming months, but I do want us to have a conversation – a two-way communication between our Church and our community. So please do contact me if you have something to say, or if you have a question you'd like me to try to answer: jdbm2010@gmail.com.

2015 Directed by John Crowley

BROOKLYN tells the profoundly moving story of Ellis Lacey (Saoirse Ronan), a young Irish immigrant navigating her way through 1950s Brooklyn. Lured by the promise of America, Ellis departs Ireland and the comfort of her mother's home for the shores of New York City. The initial shackles of homesickness quickly diminish as a fresh romance sweeps Ellis into the intoxicating charm of love. But soon, her new vivacity is disrupted by her past, and Ellis must choose between two countries and the lives that exist within.

Work has now started on cutting and maintaining Dedham Parish Footpaths; please report any concerns to Cllr. Ann Follows (☎322038).

HIDDEN TREASURES

St Helena Hospice is inviting local people to showcase their gardens from March to August in order to raise money in support of its patients and their families.

The hospice recognises that lots of its supporters have beautiful gardens nestled away which have had a lot of hard work, time and effort put into, and it would love supporters to share their masterpieces in aid of its work. The community fundraising team will provide fundraising materials for anyone opening their garden as well as helping with advertising to the local community. An event raising just £25 could pay for a chaplaincy visit to provide a 'listening ear' to a patient, regardless of any religious beliefs. A small donation can make a large difference.

ST HELENA HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS

Currently St Helena Hospice has approximately 800 volunteers giving their time to support the hospice in lots of different ways, whether on a regular basis or every so often to help at events. All of its volunteers play a vital part in the work that it does, and as its services expand, so does it need its volunteer team to!

Volunteering is a great way to increase confidence and make new friends, learn new skills, gain experience in a work environment and most importantly make a difference. By donating your precious time and valuable skills you could save the hospice money which it can use to support patients and their families and carers.

The hospice recently spoke to Bev Adams one of its volunteers who works on the reception desk at its Inpatient Unit, Myland Hall, about what she would say to someone thinking about volunteering:

“Do it. You would get so much satisfaction and know you're helping to support people in your community. Those few hours from your day could make a huge difference to someone else's.” If you're interested in becoming a volunteer for St Helena Hospice please contact the volunteer team on ☎931466 or volunteer@sthelenahospice.org.uk.
